Art Unit: 1731

1. Claims 39-49 remain withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim.

Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in Paper No. 10.

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

4. Claims 52, 55 and 56 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lohead et al. (6,039,897) for the reasons as set forth in the previous office action.

5. Applicant's arguments filed July 15, 2003 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Art Unit: 1731

With respect to the rejection under 103 over Lochhead et al. (6,039,897) applicants argue:

It is believed that Lochhead et al. does not disclose a viscosity of less than about 50 cm²/s, nor does Lochhead disclose allowing a ceramic precursor to enter a volume of lower pressure, as recited in claims 52 and 55, respectively (based on claims 10 and 17, rewritten in independent form).

This argument is not persuasive. First, with respect to the issue of the precursor entering a volume of lower pressure as recited in claim 55, it is submitted that Lochhead et al. clearly teaches this feature. Applicants' attention is directed to col. 10, lines 63-64, which recites: "Filling of the molds can be facilitated by application of vacuum...". It is submitted that a vacuum meets the claimed limitation of a volume of lower pressure.

Further, with respect to the viscosity, it is submitted that the examiner has not alleged that Lochhead et al. teaches the claimed viscosity. Rather, the examiner takes the position that the determination of the specific viscosity would have been well within the realm of routine experimentation to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention. Where the general conditions of a claim are disclosed in the prior art, it is not inventive to discover the optimum or workable ranges by routine experimentation. In re Aller, 220 F.2d 454, 456, 105 USPQ 233, 235 (CCPA 1955). A particular parameter must first be recognized as a result-effective variable, i.e., a variable which achieves a recognized result, before the determination of the optimum or workable ranges of said variable might be characterized as routine experimentation. In re Antonie, 559 F.2d 618, 195 USPQ 6 (CCPA 1977). In this case, Lochhead et al. teaches that viscosity is a result effective variable, i.e. a variable which achieves a recognized result at col. 7, lines 12-13, where it teaches that lowering viscosity greatly facilitates mold filling.

Art Unit: 1731

Lochhead et al. Does not curing a ceramic precursor in a mold at a temperature of at least 100°C. Instead, Lochhead et al. discloses temperatures less than 100°C (see e.g. col. 6, lines 56-58). Thus, claim 56 (based on claim 22, written in independent form) is also believed to be patentable.

This argument is not persuasive. In the case where the claimed ranges "overlap or lie inside ranges disclosed by the prior art" a prima facie case of obviousness exists. In re Wertheim, 541 F.2d 257, 191 USPQ 90 (CCPA 1976); In re Woodruff, 919 F.2d 1575, 16 USPQ2d 1934 (Fed. Cir. 1990) (The prior art taught carbon monoxide concentrations of "about 1-5%" while the claim was limited to "more than 5%." The court held that "about 1-5%" allowed for concentrations slightly above 5% thus the ranges overlapped.); In re Geisler, 116 F.3d 1465, 1469-71, 43 USPQ2d 1362, 1365-66 (Fed. Cir. 1997). In the instant case the prior art does not teach "temperatures less than 100°C" as stated by applicant. Instead the reference teaches temperatures "up to about 100°C" and as stated above, the phrase "about 100" includes values slightly above 100.

6. Claims 1-4,6,7,9-38,50,53,54,57,58 and 59 are allowed.

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
